Sadat breaks off Mideast conference

JERUSALEM (AP) - Egyptian President Anwar Sadat dramatically broke off talks with Israel Wednesday, called his foreign minister back to Cairo and accused the Israelis of deliberately blocking progress toward a Middle East peace.

The sudden move by the Egyptian leader cast a pall over the future of historic Egyptian-Israeli peace negotiations begun at Sadat's initiative last November.

There was no immediate Israeli comment on the development. The Israeli cabinet rushed into special session.

State Department spokesperson Hodding Carter said "It means for the moment that the talks will not continue. I'm not going to assess it beyond that."

Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance, who has been attempting to bridge the gaps between Israel and Egypt in private talks with the negotiators, told reporters he does not believe the talks have broken down.

"I've been through a lot of international negotiations. I've seen ups and downs in the past," Vance said.

But Egypt's announcement caught Vance by surprise. He was planning to give a dinner for Egyptian Foreign Minister Mohammed Kamel Wednesday night.

The talks between the Israeli and Egyptian foreign ministers, the highest level negotiations between the two countries so far, began Tuesday and soon were deeply divided over Palestinian rights to a homeland and Israel's 11-year occupation of Arab lands.

The talks were "continuing in a vicious cycle," Egyptian Information Minister Abdel Moneim Sawy said in announcing the breakoff on Cairo television.

Sawy said Sadat ordered Kamel to return "immediately" because "it became apparent from the declarations of Israeli leaders that Israel insists on presenting partial solutions that cannot lead to the establishment of a just and lasting peace."

Informed of the Egyptian announcement, Vance went to Kamel's hotel room, but their meeting ended abruptly when Vance was called out to answer a phone call from National Security Adviser Zbigniew Brezezinski in Washington.

Sawy, his face grave as he read the recall statement over Egyptian television, said Egypt's demands - for total Israeli withdrawal from Arab lands and self determination for the Palestinians - have not changed.

Sawy said Sadat has called an emergency session of the Peoples' Assembly, Egypt's parliament, for Saturday to "place before the representatives of the people all the facts of the situation."

It was from that same rostrum that Sadat launched the historic quest for peace that brought him to Jerusalem Nov. 19 for a first dramatic meeting with leaders of the nation his country fought in four wars.

Eastern to seek more funds

Eastern's possible purchase of additional computer services will be discussed Thursday by the Board of Governors (BOG) at Chicago State University, Roland Spaniol, director of computer services, said Wednesday.

Under the proposal, Eastern would pay $24,293 in exchange for a maximum of 1,041,915 system resource units from the Mid-Illinois Computer Cooperative (MICC).

Spaniol said Eastern's computer use is ranked third of the 10 schools in the MICC.

The increase of computer use "is a credit to students and faculty at Eastern because it means our people are making use of computer services," Spaniol said.

No information was available Wednesday concerning possible board discussion on a proposed tuition increase for Illinois universities.

State schools lose salary ground

by The Associated Press

Most university professors in Illinois still earn more than their colleagues at half of the comparable out-of-state schools. But, they have lost some ground in the past seven years.

Compensation for the other academic ranks in Illinois, especially at the instructor level, has deteriorated more substantially.

The Board of Higher Education (BHE), armed with a pay study done by the American Association of University Professors, (AAUP) has recommended 8 per cent raises next year.

The study examines pay—salary plus fringe benefits—for fiscal 1971 and fiscal 1977.

Illinois universities are grouped with schools in other states that are most like them in faculty size, enrollment growth, emphasis on graduate programs and number of doctoral programs. The Illinois universities fall into one of three groups.

"Back in 1971 our universities were above average in total compensation paid," said James Elsass of the BHE.

He studied the AAUP figures and developed a report for the board.

"Now, they're average or below," he said.

Since salaries account for three-

This is the first of a two-part Associated Press story on the present status and possible future action on faculty salaries.

quarters of the higher education budget, their relative sluggishness is not surprising.

In the past 10 years, the percentage of general revenues going to Illinois colleges and universities has dropped from 23 to about 15 percent, James Furman, executive director of the BHE, said.

These findings confirm that Illinois has been unable to keep pace with other states, Elsass said.

Furman said that in the last fiscal year, Illinois ranked 42nd out of the 50 states in the amount it spent on higher education per $1,000 of personal income in the state.

That has been reflected in the paychecks of many of the 8,116 university faculty members in Illinois.

University of Illinois (U of I) professors at Urbana-Champaign earned $30,500 in fiscal 1977, compared with a median of $30,000 among 18 universities. They moved from ninth to eighth place between fiscal 1971 and 1977.

However, teachers in the other ranks fell from about the middle position on the list to near the bottom.

Instructors, for example, earned $12,700 in 1977, $2,400 below the median.

The 1971 figures combined the faculty members at Urbana-Champaign with those at Chicago Circle, while the 1977 figures did not.

Chicago Circle professors earned $29,400 in the last fiscal year, compared with a $26,700 median among 35

Power coal not to pollute

TULLAHOMA, Tenn. (AP) - Scientists have achieved an anti-pollution breakthrough that could permit America to burn high-sulfur coal for power within a decade and get 50 percent more electricity from it.

The experimental process reduces nitrogen oxide, a major component of smog, to levels far below federal standards, they said.

"This is the last scientific breakthrough we required," Dr. John Dicks of the University of Tennessee Space Institute said in a telephone interview Wednesday.

Byrne: Daley swayed LBJ

CHICAGO (AP) - President Johnson decided not to seek re-election in 1968 after Mayor Richard J. Daley told him he can't win in Chicago, a former aide to Daley said Wednesday.

Jane Byrne, former city consumer sales commissioner, also said that after the street rioting during the Democratic National Convention in Chicago, she passed the word to the mayor that two top Democrats were out to get him.

She said she assumed this meant political reprisals, but that Daley believed he was being targeted for a physical attack and ordered more stringent security measures.

PTA: TV violence harms

CHICAGO (AP) - Violence on television promotes aggressive behavior in children and may cause violent acts to be initiated by them, a report of public hearings by the National PTA television commission said Wednesday.

The report on eight regional hearings held in the last year also said those who testified expressed concern that TV violence causes youth to become apathetic or desensitized, distorts real life, may encourage paranoia, has a negative effect on children's ability to learn and diminishes the "quality of life."

Bar tax evaders probed

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) - Investigators have begun digging into records of Chicago taverns following newspaper reports that many bars evade paying state taxes, Gov. James R. Thompson's office said Wednesday.

The governor's office said a team of state auditors and investigators, headed by state Revenue Director Robert M. Whitler, is probing allegations of widespread tax evasion carried in copyrighted stories by the Chicago Sun-Times.

The newspaper and the Better Government Association operated a tavern on Chicago's near-North side for four months last year, using reporters and BGA investigators as bar employees. They found that payoffs to city and state officials were a daily part of doing business, Sun-Times stories said.

School promised holiday

URBANA, Ill. (AP) - Principal Warren Royer of University High School has promised to declare a holiday when his basketball team snaps its four-year 66-game losing streak.

"Yes, I think it is possible for us to win a game this year," said Royer. But win or lose, he said, morale is not down, and playing is good for the team.

University High is operated by the University of Illinois in conjunction with its College of Education. Students enter from the sixth grade and complete six years of junior and senior high school in five years.

EPA recalls Ford autos

WASHINGTON (AP) - Nearly a quarter-million 1975 Ford and Mercury automobiles will be recalled to correct a faulty emission control system, the Environmental Protection Agency said Wednesday.

The Ford Motor Co. agreed to recall the 240,000 vehicles because the cars contain a faulty switch in the exhaust gas recirculation system, the EPA said. Repairs will be made free of charge to owners of the cars.

All the autos have 351-cubic-inch displacement engines. The models include Gran Torino, Elite, Granada, Cougar, Montego, Monarch and Ranchero.

Second part of school need survey to begin

by John Plevka

The second phase of a survey to assess needs of Charleston's Unit One schools will be conducted later this week, a school district official said Tuesday.

The statistics are the initial results of a three phase Illinois Problems Index (IPI) survey, currently being conducted in the district.

The survey, developed by the Illinois Office of Education (IOE), is designed to aid local school districts in determining academic and fiscal goals for the future, officials said.

In the first phase of the study, reading, writing and arithmetic were reflected as the chief concerns among Unit One school district residents surveyed.

Ron Gholson of Eastern's Education Department, is head of the district's IPI advisory committee.

Gholson explained Tuesday that 157 district residents of the 180 contacted responded to the initial survey, which sought the top 20 areas of concern out of a total list of 50 categories.

The top 10 areas of concern listed in the initial poll included: reading, communication skills, math, finance, vocational education, state legislation and revenue, evaluation of educational programs, music, study skills and problem solving.

Superintendent William Hill said Tuesday he and other administrators found "nothing unusual or alarming" about the first results.

Gholson, however, said he and other committee members were "somewhat surprised that athletics was not among the top 20."

Otherwise, Gholson explained, there were no surprises in the first results, which he said were taken from "general areas."

The second phase of the survey will question the same 157 residents more specifically on areas of concern.

The results of the second phase should be available by mid-February, Gholson said.

Unit One is one of 70 districts throughout the state participating in the IOE pilot program, which Hill said is designed to outline what the public believes are the district's priorities.

"We hope to have the final results of the IPI in by mid to late March so the advisory committee can have some role in the planning for next year," Gholson explained.

Gholson said he feels the survey is beneficial because it "will improve the relationship between the school and the general public."

"When we get the final results we (the committee) can tell the board of education that this is what the public feels we have as problems," Gholson added.

"We want to provide the best possible program for the kids, because unfortunately we sometimes seem to lose track of the kids," he said.

'Goslings' cast will travel to regional drama festival

by John Cook

In a last minute decision, the cast of "Goslings," a musical written by Asa Baber of Eastern's English faculty, has been invited to the region eight American College Theatre Festival at Normal.

The troupe will perform the original production at 2 p.m. in the Fine Arts Center on the campus of Illinois State University, J. Sain, publicity coordinator for the Theatre Department, said Tuesday.

"Goslings" was originally performed here last semester.

The department was notified Tuesday that two schools dropped out of competition, opening the way for "Goslings" to appear, Sain said.

The festival competition is sponsored by the John F. Kennedy Center for Performing Arts in Washington, D.C., where the winner of the competition will appear later this spring.

This is the second year a production from Eastern has been invited to appear in regional competition. Last year, the cast of "Tom Paine," Eastern's Homecoming play, performed and received one individual award from judges.

In competition are Loyola University at Chicago, which will perform "Slow Dance on the Killing Ground" and the University of Wisconsin at Superior, doing "Vanities."

Also appearing will be two schools doing student-written plays: Kennedy-King College, performing "227," and Illinois State University doing "From All Things Evil."

Repeat proposal is good, if altered

A proposal before the Council on Academic Affairs that would change the current policy for repeating courses is a proposal worth considering, if certain revisions are made before it is instituted.

The proposal recommends that a student who receives a grade of C, D, or F may repeat the course once with the grade received from the repeated course recorded on the student's transcript.

The current proposal states that only those students who receive grades of D or F may repeat a course with both grades appearing on the student's transcript.

The CAA is currently considering several revisions that would alter the repeating course proposal.

Several changes in the proposal that would improve it would include eliminating the provision that allows students that have received a grade of C to repeat a course.

By doing this, it would prevent students from repeating a course simply to boost their grade point average.

Editorial

This would also prevent what detractors of the proposal have called "downgrading a degree." It would eliminate the chances of a B becoming an average grade instead of a C as it presently is.

Several opponents of the proposal have said that if the new proposal is instituted a student repeating a course who fails it a second time would not be able to repeat it again.

However there is no reason the current policy used for students that fail a course after repeating it could not be continued.

Currently, there are only a few courses a student is allowed to repeat more than twice. An example of these courses is English 1001.

Another factor raised by opponents of the proposal is that by dropping the first grade, prospective employers would not have a true indication of the student's abilities.

Perhaps the solution would be to indicate on the student's records that the grade he earned in the course was received the second time he took the course.

This would indicate to the employer that the student took longer to master the material in the course and the grade he received superceded the previous grade.

This could be done without revealing the grade the student received the first time he took the courses, thus preventing what one instructor said was "fraud."

The proposal to change the policy on repeating courses is a proposal that, if revised properly, would be of benefit to a large number of students and worth instituting.

Super Bowl hoopla just too much to cope with My neighbor, Bob Rambilon approached me on the street the day after the Super Bowl.

"Hey, did you see the legs on those Dallas cheerleaders?" Bob asked. "Mmmm, they have terrific bodies! Oh, and Phyllis George is tough, isn't she? And those people dressed in Orange Crush can suits waving their banners were really bizarre, weren't they?"

"Actually, Bob, I was trying--"

"Hey, did you see that morning parade with the Dallas cheerleaders in a pie-throwing contest? That was a pretty good laugh, wasn't it? By the way, did you happen to notice who stood on the left of Paul Hornung during the pre-pre-game interview?" Bob quizzed.

"No, I--"

"Well, it didn't matter anyway. I was mad because they wasted so much time with the players. But my favorite part was the interview with the wives of the players. They talked about how rough it is to be married to a professional football player."

"Yes, I imagine it would be--"

"But I was really amazed at all the cameras CBS had with their neat red, white and blue painted trucks. Did you know they had nine cameras on each sideline, four in the endzones, eight in the lockerrooms, one mounted in the ceiling of the stadium, and I almost forgot that special action-trac that lets you watch the action step by step. Didn't you think the action-trac is a good idea?"

"Yes, the action-trac is something that could be--"

"But you know what I really liked the best," Bob asked? "I liked it when the Ford Motor Company drove their new cars around the field and the CBS cameras followed the car with the action-trac camera and--"

"And the game was good, too. What did you think of the game?" I asked.

"Don't talk to me about that," Bob said, with a disgusted look on his face.

"Why not?" I asked him.

"Oh, I got so tired that I fell asleep and missed the whole game, but I woke up in time to catch the post-game interviews with Craig Morton and Tom Landry and ..."

Letter to the Editor

Taking issue

Editor,

For the first time in quite a while, I find I must take issue with an Eastern News editorial (1/18/78 dealing with the off-campus Senate vacancies.)

The News admits that the constitution does not specify the procedure to be followed in this unique situation.

If this is indeed the case (and I agree with the News that it is), then how can the Senate be said to be defying the constitution by attempting to fill the vacancies?

The contradiction is obvious - one cannot overrule a clause which does not exist. The Senate must therefore create a procedure.

The long-term solution must, of course, be a constitutional amendment, and this should be actively pursued (preferably in committee.)

In the meantime (i.e., this semester) we still have a problem.

One third of the off-campus district (which contains nearly half the total number of students at Eastern) is not represented. Clearly this is the greater evil.

I agree with the News that the Senate must waste no further time wrestling over internal problems. If, however, a viable solution can be found which can be implemented both quickly and fairly, then that solution should be adopted.

It appears that the compromise to be offered by Senators Dawson and Parker would meet both criteria.

It would be unfortunate if it is not adopted.

It would be doubly unfortunate if a self-contradictory Eastern News editorial in my way contributed to its defeat.

Fire hits Ninth Street home

by Dave Pugh

A fire caused between $500 and $750 damage Tuesday night to a home at 1429 Ninth St., Charleston Fire Chief Melvin Taylor said Wednesday.

Taylor said the fire was caused by faulty electrical wiring.

"I have determined that the fire was caused by an extension cord that was run between two bedrooms. It was looped over the door hinge and caused a short," Taylor added.

Taylor said damage to the room includes "a mattress, some wall covering, a radio, bed clothes, and some personal effects."

"There was very little structural damage," he added.

Kenneth Mullins, a resident of the house who slept in the room, said he was "watching TV, and smelled smoke."

"I paid no attention, came outside and saw the flames," he added.

Taylor said Tuesday's cold did not hinder the firemen's operations.

Family planning center moves

The Embarrass River Basin Family Planning Center recently changed its location to 825 18th St., the site of the former Charleston hospital building.

Liz Newton, director of the Family Planning Center, said Monday the relocation of the Center from 522 Fifth St. was due to an "undependable furnace" in the Linder Community Building.

The Center "provides contraceptive health services to anyone who desires them, including Pap smears, pelvic and breast exams, pregnancy tests, and counseling," Newton said.

The Center is open Monday through Friday, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Dr. Francis Schaeffer is a well known evangelical theologian. This series of ten half-hour films, beginning Thursday, is the high point of his work. Dr. Schaeffer examines our present state of affairs through an analysis of key moments in western history. This is done from a combined study of art, science, history, religion and philosophy. He offers a viable alternative: Historic Christianity as revealed in the Bible.

These films are appropriate viewing for any thinking person with an interest in his culture and community.

Guitarist to perform tunes co-authored with teacher

by Beth Frey

Singer and guitarist Dick Northrop will appear in the Rathskeller at 8:00 p.m. Thursday, performing material co-written by George Colby of the English Department.

Admission for the performance will be 50 cents.

In past Rathskeller appearances, Northrop has performed his own material and renditions of music made popular by other artists. Thursday's appearance will be highlighted by the material he and Colby composed.

"The music will continue to have the style of easy listening, rock-blues type music," Northrop said.

He added that the new material "has a sort of mystical, poetic feeling about it."

"I'm beginning to strive for a style of my own, and right now I'm just experimenting," Northrop said. He said he still enjoys doing James Taylor and Loggins & Messina, and plans to include some of their material in the performance.

Northrop has been performing for the past five years, and writing songs for the past three. He came to the Charleston area two years ago where he completed one and a half years of school here. In addition to songwriting and playing, he presently teaches guitar lessons in the Charleston area.

Highlighting Thursday's performance will be Northrop's wife, Nan, who will be featured in 10 out of the 25 songs planned.

Senate to debate openings

A proposal to form a committee to recommend new senate members will be discussed by the Student Senate at 8 p.m. Thursday in the Union addition Tuscola-Arcola Room, Senate Speaker Murphy Hart said Wednesday.

The proposal, sponsored by Chris Parker of the Off-Campus District, is an attempt to fill two seats recently vacated by the election of Hart as speaker and the resignation of Mary O'Connor.

Vacant seats in the senate are normally filled by a losing candidate who ran from the same district as the vacancy occurred in.

However, all the candidates who ran in the November election for a seat in the Off-Campus District and lost have already filled vacancies leaving the senate with no candidates for the two offices.

Also on the agenda is a proposal by At-Large District Senator Mark Learnard to combine the Campus Relations and Public Relations committees. Learnard could not be reached Wednesday for additional information on the proposal.

RHA to take nominations

The Residence Hall Association (RHA) will take nominations for vice-president and secretary at its meeting at 5 p.m. Thursday in the Stevenson Tower basement.

The two offices are open due to the resignations of Bob Heberer and Deb Devine, the former vice-president and secretary, respectively, who are resident assistants this semester, RHA President Rod Hasler said Wednesday.

Also at Thursday's meeting, RHA will discuss the progress of plans to move its office to the University Union, Hasler said.

RHA will also discuss the completion of its bunk bed project, which was started last semester.

Adams suggests railroad revamp

CHICAGO (AP) - Midwestern railroads should reorganize and streamline their operations to avoid sliding into financial problems that could lead to federal takeover, U.S. Transportation Secretary Brock Adams said Wednesday.

Adams asked Midwestern railroad interests to initiate a series of meetings to restructure their industry.

"We will be giving private enterprise a chance to put its house in order," Adams said at a news conference during a Midwestern railroad conference here.

He called the conference after the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific Railroad went bankrupt in December.

Another major Midwestern line, the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific, declared bankruptcy in 1975.

Adams said the federal government has no master plan for reorganizing or nationalizing Midwestern railroads.

Instead, he proposed a series of local-level meetings under the Railroad Revitalization and Regulatory Reform Act of 1976.

The Transportation Department cannot force mergers or reorganization, but the Act permits it to assist in negotiations and offer federal money, about $700 million of which is available to aid reorganization.

"I firmly believe the industry should be given one last chance to restructure itself before the government comes in and says, 'Here I am, the man from Washington to solve all your problems',"

Adams said in an opening statement to about 400 railroad industry and labor representatives.

Adams said excess track and equipment, such as that used by the five carriers which operate lines between Chicago and Omaha and the eight that operate between Chicago and Kansas City, should be eliminated.

Adams said the problems of Midwestern railroads differ from those that prompted Congress to reorganize Northeastern railroads into Conrail, a government-financed rail system with the Penn Central as its mainstay.

Adams said Conrail has cost the federal government about $2.1 billion. "You can understand why I'm reluctant to go to the Congress and say, 'We have another one for you,'" Adams said.

Adams said he called the conference because he wanted the railroad problem "in the public forum so everybody can see what happens when you try to talk about it . . . We will be having it out," he said.

In an address to the group, James R. Wolfe, president of the Chicago and North Western Railroad, said the Midwest's bankrupt railroads should be liquidated.

"We believe that liquidation of one or more of the Midwestern bankrupts is absolutely essential," Wolfe said. "There is not enough rail traffic in the Midwest to support the number of routes and railroads being operated."

universities, putting them in ninth place.

Other Chicago Circle faculty members earned about the median for their ranks.

Also included on that list of 35 schools were Illinois State, Northern Illinois and Southern Illinois at Carbondale and Edwardsville. All ranks at those schools dropped on the list between 1971 and 1977.

Instructors fared the worst. All earned less than the median of $14,600. The largest disparity was at Northern Illinois, where instructors earned $2,000 less and fell from 24th to 33rd place.

Chicago State, Eastern Illinois, Western Illinois and Northeastern Illinois were in a group with 51 schools.

Chicago State professors were further ahead of the median than any in the state, earning $27,800 last year, compared with the $24,400 median. Only Northeastern was below the median, by $300. All four schools dropped in position in all academic ranks.

Instructors at Eastern fell from 21st to 45th place, and earned $12,000 in fiscal 1977, $2,000 below the median.

The U of I likes to compare itself with other schools in the Big Ten, and not all of those were among the 18 used in the first group.

Among the Big Ten schools, U of I professors moved from seventh to sixth place, but associate and assistant professors fell from eighth to last place, and instructors dropped from eighth to ninth.

Because 1971 data was not available, the study looked at Governors State and Sangamon State University faculty compensation in 1973 and 1977. At both schools, and at all academic levels, compensation was above the median in both years. They were compared with six other universities.

Thousands of striking farmers rally Capitol

WASHINGTON (AP) - Thousands of striking farmers rallied on the Capitol steps today, protesting low farm prices and demanding face-to-face meetings with President Jimmy Carter and leaders of Congress.

The farmers are in Washington for seven days of rallies, tractor motorcades and lobbying to coincide with the opening of Congress.

"We will be heard by the House and the Senate and the president or we will not go home," one speaker told the rally on the Capitol's west steps.

Earlier, a group of 500 or more farmers walked through the rotunda of the Capitol from east to west, apparently after being told they were in the wrong place. Their shouts and laughter echoed to the top of the dome and back.

Outside, the farmers listened to protest songs and speeches. Some of the songs were rewritten versions of protest ballads that were popular in the anti-war movement of the 1960s.

Many of the protesters carried handwritten signs outlining their demands for higher prices for the food products they sell.

"We are the backbone of the nation, but Washington has slipped a disc," one sign read. Many in the crowd said they were from Georgia, Carter's home state. "We sent Jimmy, but we're sorry," read one of the signs carried by the Georgians.

As they did in mid-December when a national strike by some farmers began, the demonstrators brought tractors to publicize their complaints. But they also brought leaflets aimed at House and Senate members, who begin their 1978 session Thursday.

Few members of Congress were in their offices Tuesday as groups of farm men and women visited to leave copies of a tabloid statement on "Why We Strike" and explain their position.

Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland is scheduled out of town most of the week. Pickets plan to walk outside his offices as well as at the White House and House and Senate office buildings.

Bergland's department has scheduled a series of meetings between government economists, price-support program experts and other officials with groups of protesters.

So far, 13 meetings to accommodate 2,800 persons have been arranged,

Christian film series to be shown

A series of ten half-hour films made by Francis Schaeffer, evangelical theologian, will be presented Thursday, Friday and Saturday by the Christian Collegiate Fellowship.

Two films will be shown from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. Thursday in the Union Addition Grand Ballroom in addition to two more films to be shown from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. Friday in the Buzzard Education Building Auditorium.

Saturday presentations include three films to be shown from 7 p.m. to 9:30 p.m., both in the Union Addition Grand Ballroom.

A discussion period will follow each session.

The film series is free and open to the public.

The films, will "give insight into why we act the way we do and why we think the way we do," Jim Zimmerman, Christian Collegiate Fellowship member, said Wednesday.

Swimmers to challenge Bradley at home

by Ron Cohen
Eastern's men's swim team will be at home for only the second time this season when they dive into action against Bradley University, at 4 p.m. Thursday at Lantz pool.
This meet will also be only the Panthers (1-0) second dual meet this year due to the cancellation of two meets in December because of inclement weather.
Bradley is a Division I school and has a record of 2-1. They return most of the team that squeezed by Eastern 60-54 in a dual meet last year.

The Panther's head mentor, Ray Padovan said he hoped for a close meet again this year but conceded that Bradley would have to be considered a strong favorite to beat this year's young, inexperienced Panther team.
"They (Bradley) are probably a little better than they were a year ago," Padovan said. "I just haven't found out as yet how good we are."
"I think we have the potential to be a good swimming team, we just haven't shown it."

Eastern returns only one winner from last year's meet with Bradley and that is jr. All-American Joe Nitch who won the 1,000 yard freestyle event.
Bradley's top returnees are, Tim Harris in the butterfly and Reg Folmar who is a top backstroke entry.
The Panthers received a scare earlier this week when their top diver, freshman Al Cymbal had to have five stitches placed in his forehead after a diving accident in practice.

The extent of the injury was not serious and Cymbal was listed as a possible participant in the Bradley meet by Padovan.
The diving events are one of Padovan's top hopes for staying close to Bradley.

Badminton team travels to SIU after long layoff

by Julie Penne
With its last two meets being cancelled due to rough winter weather, Eastern's badminton team will try to get back in the swing of things with the Southern Illinois University (SIU-C) Invitational in Carbondale this weekend.
Also competing in the tourney in addition to SIU-C, will be Ball State, Blackburn, Illinois State University (ISU), Mississippi University for Women, Western Illinois University (WIU) and the University of Tennessee at Martin.
Head Coach Robert Hussey feels that the meet will be good competition for the Panthers even after the long layoff since Dec. 3.
"The more competition and the better it is, the better it will be overall for us," he said.
The Panthers have not competed since Dec. 3, when it whipped SIU-C 140-4, losing only one match.
Hussey looks for ISU and WIU to give the Panthers the most competition.

Hussey said, "We are ready for this meet despite the fact that we have not played another school for a month. We have been working very hard among ourselves and we need some competition."
Travelling to the meet will be Mary Stupek, Kay Metzger, Kathy Hussey and Dawn Brown.
Also competing will be Karen Keister, Sue Field, Judi White, Rose Hodel, Barbara Klein and Erin Hussey.

Two football assistants complete Mudra's staff

Two football assistants, Mike Shanahan and Joe Taylor, have been selected to handle the offensive coaching duties for Eastern by head coach Darrell Mudra.

Shanahan, a former Eastern football player, returns to Eastern after coaching one year at Northern Arizona as the backfield coach. He helped lead Northern Arizona to the first round of the Division II football bowl playoffs.

Shanahan will assume the duties of offensive co-ordinator for Mudra, which is one of the main reasons for Shanahan switching to Eastern.

"I was offered the offensive co-ordinator position which is more responsibility than I had before," Shanahan said.

But Shanahan offered a couple more reasons for accepting the job.

"When you look at a job offer you have to look at what type of program they have to offer and also ask, can they win?" Shanahan said.

"Eastern can win because they have the facilities, they have as many scholarships as other teams they play and also have the backing from people who want to see Eastern win," Shanahan said. "The people want a good football program here and when you get that type of atmosphere you want to come here."

Taylor, who played for Mudra at Western Illinois University, will take over the offensive lineman.

Shanahan, a graduate of East Leyden High School, was named the athlete of the year in 1969-70 for East Leyden and was also the Most Valuable Player of the football team.

Shanahan attended Eastern from 1970-74 and played football for two years before an injury cut short his career. He served as graduate assistant in 1974 for Eastern.

He moved on to coach the offensive backs and receivers at the University of Oklahoma in 1975 and 1976. Oklahoma won the national championship in 1975 and were the Fiesta Bowl champions in 1976.

While coaching at Northern Arizona last season, the Lumberjack offense was 11th in the nation averaging just under 400 yards per game and with a 30 point scoring average.

Northern Arizona finished 9-2 for the regular season, losing to Jacksonville State in the playoffs.

Taylor, from Washington D.C., lettered in football three seasons on both offense and defense and earned the leadership award while attending Cardoazo High School.

At Western he played offensive guard from 1968-72.

Taylor returned to Washington after graduation from Western and started a 15 school city wrestling program while coaching at H.D. Woodson High School.

Panthers need momentum

NEMO is allowing a point less at 72.3.

The Bulldogs, obviously by the scores from their most recent games, have been running the ball. Eddy said the Panthers will be able to run with them but "they won't have so much power where we will have to sit on it."

Eddy said the Panthers need to gain some momentum going for the rest of the schedule.

Eastern will play the top rated Division II team in Wisconsin-Green Bay this weekend but he is not looking Eastern has allowed 73.3 points and ahead to Green Bay because of the tough Northeast Missouri squad coming in.

"Winning some on the road gives you some confidence and hopefully it will carry over with you during the rest of the schedule," Eddy said. "Our remaining schedule is a lot more difficult than it has been in the past years because it will be a lot tougher."

Three of the Panthers future foes are currently rated in the top six of Division II. Besides Green Bay, Townson State and Northern Kentucky are also rated.

Panther pins pave 49-0 shutout

by Brad Patterson

The nationally ranked Eastern wrestlers won all ten weight classes and completely outclassed Augustana College, as they shut out the Vikings 49-0.

The grapplers, ranked fourth in the Division II poll, recorded five pins and received one forfeit, as it rolled to its third dual-match victory against no defeats to extend their dual meet win streak to 14.

Boyd Breeding, Gil Duran, Bob Stout, Robin Ayers, and Dave Klemm all recorded pins as Eastern easily overpowered hapless Augustana.

Breeding, at 118 pounds, pinned Jim Warner of Augustana at 3:54 to open the evening's festivities.

Duran, who was wrestling at 134 pounds as Ricky Johnson took the night off, recorded a fall over Dave Loder at 4:35.

Bob Stout pinned Mike Kerr at 1:56 in the 167 pound division, while Robin Ayres had no trouble in the 190 pound class, pinning Terry McCarter at 2:29.

Heavyweight Dave Klemm raised his mark to 12-1 in the heavyweight division by pinning Dave Bell at 1:41 to record the evenings' quickest fall, and ending the meet.

Doug Schaefer scored a minor decision over Mike Delahanty of Augustana 7-3 in the 126 pound division, while Bob McQuinn scored an easy 10-3 decision over Jeff Johnson in the 142 pound class.

Rudy Ruettiger scored an 11-4 win over Ken Model at 158 pounds, and Ken Lewis eased to a major decision in 167-pounder Bob Stout records the third of the Panther's five pins over his Augustana opponent. Stout's pin the 177 pound division over Augustana's Dan Martin.

Barry Hintze received his second consecutive forfeit victory in the 150 pound class.

"This was a good workout for us," said head coach Ron Clinton after the match.

"They were more competitive than the score indicates. They have a couple of good wrestlers who ran into bad breaks tonight and once everyone started winning big, all the other guys wanted to keep it going."

The wrestlers are looking forward to a big Monday night match with the University of Illinois.

"Everyone wants to be in good shape for Monday night, and everyone made a good showing tonight," said Clinton.

The Panthers won the match without two of their top wrestlers. Ricky Johnson, the Panthers 134 pound performer, and Ralph McCausland who usually wrestles at 142 pounds, were both rested by Clinton.

"It was simply a good team effort tonight," said Clinton. "Everyone wrestled well and the score indicates how strong we really can be."

NEMO to invade Lantz Thursday in make up

by Rudy Ruettiger

The critical part of the Panther cage season will start Thursday against Northeast Missouri University (NEMO). Critical, because the Panthers are still striving to obtain some kind of a consistency level in their play and also because of the rough schedule they will face in the upcoming weeks.

The game Thursday with Northeast Missouri is a make-up of a game cancelled on Dec. 15 due to the weather conditions.

Head coach Don Eddy said the Panthers will be starting to "build towards the rest of the season" with NEMO. "We will build with success and hopefully start with NEMO."

Starting with NEMO though will not be an easy task, because the Bulldogs will be invading Lantz with a four game winning streak and a 9-3 overall mark.

NEMO lost their leading scorer and rebounder early in the season due to discipline problems but have jelled and strung together an impressive four game streak.

In three of the four wins the Bulldogs have topped the 80 point mark and twice have hit triple figures.

In their last game against Central Missouri State, they won 102-81. Central State was the co-favorite to win the Missouri Intercollegiate Athletic Association conference.

They are very tough," Eddy said. "No question about them being tough."

NEMO's three main men are Ved Green, Angelo Herman and Olney's Terry Bussard.

Green is the Bulldogs top scorer averaging 17 points a ballgame with Herman and Bussard popping in 12 points a game.

Herman is also pulling down 13 caroms a game to rank him among the top ten in Division II statistics.

Northeast does not have a big man but with Herman and Green both standing 6-6 and its other forward at 6-5, they are stable in the height department.

"Their overall height is not bad, but they are leapers," Eddy said. "They are very quick and quickness is their strongest attribute."

The Panther line up is still uncertain according to Eddy. Coming off a six game road trip the Panthers had employed Mike Stumpe, William Patterson, Dennis Mumford, Derrick Scott and Mike Pickens.

"We changed the line up specifically for the road trip," Eddy said. "And we did better than we usually do on the road."

Early in the season Eddy had been using Charlie Thomas and Craig Dewitt in place of Stumpe and Patterson.

Thomas is the Panthers leading scorer with an 18.7 average. Mumford is the next in line with a 14 point average and Dewitt is the only other Panther to be hitting in double figures with a 10.1 average.

Scott is just under 10 points a game with a 9.8 average. Mumford is still the Panthers leading rebounder collecting 7.1 misfires a game.

Eastern as a team is averaging 76.1 points a game compared to NEMO's 82.6 points per game. Defensively

(See PANTHERS, page 10)

An important cog in the Eastern game plan is walk-on Mike Stumpe, shown here applying pressure defense in a game played earlier in the season against Quincy College. Stumpe, a starter on the recent road trip, and the Panthers will host Northeast Missouri University in a make up game at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at Lantz.
